The information presented is extremely simple and navigation buttons are appropriate and all the hyperlinks function well. This portal is all set to become a key agent for important changes to usher in and accepts vital inputs from the citizens who's the ultimate beneficiary. The layout is very neat and makes the common man comfortable. I did not find any spelling mistakes. The website loads very fast with perfect navigation.

Overall insights of the site

There are certain improvements required on the following :

Ø The home page's primary image is huge in pixel size and changes rapidly before one can read the contents.

Ø Too many videos regarding latest projects open up immediately as and when the cursor is pointed at the icons.

In summary the website is user friendly and very responsive. The server response time is very good (0.2 seconds). All the hyperlinks to social networks open to our personal pages. Banner, logo and images are very attractive. It welcomes Government Institutions to collaborate with citizens through this platform.

Henceforth this platform helps government bodies identify talent and expertise which can be garnered towards the success of projects to strengthen governance with people's participation.
